Minority Attends Town Meeting Regardless Of Day It's Held

Fluoridation On Ballot Again?

If the Legislature approves, the fluoridation battle will once again be waged throughout Andover.

On petition of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Rep. Arthur Williams was requested to file the necessary legislation, giving the town permission to place the question on the March ballot. It is understood that the bill, filed by Mr. Williams for the Jaycees, was received at the state house prior to the Dec. 6 deadline for filing bills.

Gerald Silverman, president of the local Jaycees, said action has been taken on as a project, and is approved by the national Jaycees for local chapters.

The issue promises to be hotly contested - Andover voters dis-

What determines attendance at town meeting?

Is it the day of the week? The issues? General voter interest?

Statistics seem to show that holding the meeting Saturdays, instead of the traditional Mondays, makes little difference in the attendance.

By percentages of total eligible voters, an average of 10.66 percent have attended Saturday meetings over the past six years. Only slightly greater is the percentage of total voters attending meetings on Monday nights - 11.5.

After last year's town meeting hit a new low - only 614 bothered to go to the annual session - interest grew in determining whether Saturday is, indeed, a better time for this municipal activity.

In the memory of some election officials, who attend and check off the voters at town meeting, more voters went to town meeting "in the old days" - that is, before Saturday sessions.

But this seems not to be the

Santa Plans On Early Visits

Santa Claus - that jolly fellow with the bag full of toys - may come calling on some Andover youngsters a wee bit early this year.

Not that he won't be around Christmas too - when the house is asleep, and no youngsters are peeking.

But it looks now as though Santa may make a quick trip to some Andover homes Sunday, Dec. 24 - just to be sure he can find the way in the dark.

Members of the Andover Jaycees apparently are in Santa's confidence, and he let them in on the secret. Gerald Silverman of Dufton st. and Richard Barney of Dartmouth rd. - both Jaycee members - also have indicated that Santa may use their homes for a depot, where he can store up some of the packages he'll be toting around the town on that pre-Christ-

Post Office Open Saturday

Assistant Postmaster Francis J. Mooney announced today that the Postoffice will remain open until 2:30 Saturday, for the convenience of residents.

Noting that the rush mailing for the holiday is beginning, Mooney said there has been an eight percent increase in mail over a year ago at this time.

He also noted that parcel post packages coming into the Andover office Monday numbered 2,253 - the most that has come through here in a day since last Christmas.

Andover, along with all other offices in the country, will this year be attempting to keep Christmas mail deliveries to the customary one - other years it has been necessary to deliver some routes twice daily during the rush. A new method of sorting mail, so

"I'm glad someone's finally telling what's happening to us."

That was the comment this week of one woman, whose home is being taken by the state for Route 495.

She told the Townsman that of three houses in one grouping, the owner of the one in the center hasn't received any offer from the state; however, the other two owners have been in negotiations with the state and have received eviction notices.

She spoke about the mental anguish of the residents, as they feel themselves to be under tremendous pressure from the state - but without any way to extract themselves from the situation because of financial circumstances.

In this, as in other cases, individuals are having to consider buying new homes while paying mortgages on the first one. Interest on a bridge loan, plus the interest on the first mortgage, often add up

Language Research Program Underway At Junior High

by Ansi N. DeCesare

As classroom teachers and administrators seek useful and practical media for making teaching techniques meaningful to pupils, the Andover Junior High School faculty is engaged in experimenting with a Language Research Program that not only affords language experiences, written and oral, to pupils, but also in-service review experiences to teachers of all subjects as well.

The underlying purposes of the experiment are: to train pupils to an awareness of the importance of organized expression, both oral and written; to train pupils to practice good work habits in all areas of learning; to urge teachers to make demands commensurate with the pupils' training. Although the program stems from and is directed by the English Department, all members of the faculty are actively engaged by being supervisory teacher-directors of small groups, comprising as few pupils as 30 and in several instances as many as 65, depending on available room.

The program is centered around language skills, useful to all subjects whose medium is the English language. Pupils are taught to put to practice the following reading skills: (1) learning a method to select an interesting subject for research, (2) assembling a working bibliography, (3) taking notes from source materials, (4) writing suitable headings for and subsequently developing a detailed working outline, (5) preparing a card file,

(6) writing, organizing and illustrating a fifty-word dictionary, (7) preparing a brief outline from notes in the card file to follow in making a fifteen minute delivery, and (8) preparing an individually contrived graphic, dramatic, or audio-visual demonstration to make both the subject and the speech more interesting to the audience.

The program emphasizes the practice of language and reading skills and also affords an opportunity for the pupil to experience the evolution of a research subject by systematic procedure. The pupil works from the bibliography he has compiled and lists questions that suggest the development of the area of his research. These he records into good headings by coordinating questions and re-phrasing expression. He extends his reading, writing, and speaking vocabularies by (1) selecting words from his research materials, (2) determining the contextual meaning of the word, (3) reading and writing down all the meanings of the words, and (4) creating two original sentences to show two other meanings of the words selected. In these particular sentences, he utilizes and demonstrates grammatical principles and structure patterns learned in English classes. He thus learns to compose good structures and begins to understand a purpose for grammatical principles. He learns to take notes from "live" research materials like books, magazines and newspapers, as well as lectures and television programs and writes them in single word, phrase, or sentence form. Then he re-phrases this type of note into correct simple or compound sentence structures to complete a card file of the subject of research.

He is given further instruction in improving his reading comprehension and speed. During one of the Language Research periods, called reading enrichment, he reads from a book he has brought to the homeroom, and at this time he is encouraged to practice the suggestions given him. Each homeroom has an "enrichment" reading library, for the approved books are arranged on a shelf in open view.

By the end of March, each pupil has completed this aspect of the program and has ready for evaluation by the English Department Chairman the following: (1) a completed card file, (2) an illustrated alphabetized (handwritten) dictionary, (3) a bibliography, and (4) a detailed outline. Then he either volunteers for position or is given one for the fifteen minute organized delivery he will make before his homeroom. At this time along with his speech he gives a graphic, dramatic, or audio-visual presentation, depending on his creativity and ingenuity, for which he has been given suggestions.

At no time is the pupil left without example, suggestion, or advice by a teacher. His delivery and presentation are also evaluated by the English chairman by means of a criticism chart of five categories (from noise to voice elements). These elements have been demonstrated and explained to him periodically since October. The evaluation of the pupil is a confidential matter between him and the critic. A competitive element is present for each knows that the five best projects will be presented before the entire student body.

The Language Research program has merit. The pupil has the opportunity to vitalize direction in instruction in an area of research of his own choice so that he can enjoy the experience of communicating in an organized way before small as well as large groups. The teacher has the opportunity for seeing language problems that are common to all teachers. Both the teacher and the pupil have the opportunity for a closer, meaningful relationship for it is the homeroom teacher who helps direct the pupil to a better understanding and accomplishment of the direction given him in his weekly meetings with the English Department Chairman. In fact, after this experience the pupil has made a step forward in understanding a relationship among his school subjects, thus making it easier for him to understand the educative process of his school.

Present Plan For Recreation Area

An ambitious $200,000 project to create a 20-acre recreational and physical activity area at the High School has been proposed.

The voters of the town will be asked to embark on the plan next March, by taking the first of several steps on the way toward completion of the area.

By a vote of the School Committee, an article will be inserted in the warrant asking for $28,000 - and also adding the $22,000 voted last March - to clear the entire area and do the rough drainage and grading.

Thus, for a total of $50,000, steps in the plan can be taken. It is estimated that the second step - building a multi-purpose area, track and football field - can be taken the following year at an estimated cost of $35,000. A third step, seeding and grading the entire area, would come the following year, and would cost $65,000.

Additional development in year to come would include a swimming pool, re-location of the parking area and the creation of additional recreational areas. Eventually, according to the plan, bleachers would be constructed there, and the town's football games played there.

In the second step - the one that would create the first usable areas - a child's play area; utility area for tennis and other activities played on a hard-top surface; a track and the football field would be constructed.

The plan has been devised by an architectural firm which plans the new elementary school at Lovejoy rd., Clinch, Crimp, Brown and Fisher.

Money appropriated last March at town meeting paid for the plan. The additional $22,000 to be transferred under the School Committee's proposal, was appropriated in a separate article which stated that thorough surveying and plans would be required before any of the funds could be spent.

It is estimated that the second step - building a multi-purpose area, track and football field - can be taken the following year, at an estimated cost of $35,000. A third step, seeding and fine grading the entire area, would come the following year, and would cost $65,000.

Additional development in years to come would include a swimming pool, re-location of the parking lot and the creation of additional recreational areas. Eventually, according to the plan, bleachers would be constructed there, and the town's football games played there.

In the second step - the one that would create the first usable areas - a child's play area; utility area for tennis and other activities played on a hard-top surface, a track and the football field would be constructed.

The plan has been devised by the architectural firm which planned the new elementary school on Lovejoy rd., Clinch, Crimp, Brown and Fisher.

Money appropriated last March at town meeting paid for the plans. The additional $22,000 to be transferred under the School Committee's proposal, was appropriated in a separate article, which stated that thorough surveying and plans would be required before any of the funds could be spent.

Although not in the wording of the article, several persons at the School Committee meeting recalled that the money was supposed to be used to construct the utility area.

The members believed, however, that using this money, plus the new appropriation of $28,000, would make sense. They said drainage work can be done more cheaply if the whole 20 acres are prepared than would be the case if only a portion of the area was done.

The first step would thus automatically postpone construction of the usable area for a year, but members appeared to agree that this would be practical.

In connection with a query about the area being tied in with the town recreation program through its recreational director, member Robert McIntyre recalled that the area is supposed to be primarily for school recreation. Although he agreed that the town should have some voice in the matter, he believed that the affair is essentially a school problem.

Dress-Up Plan
At Junior High

The Student Council of the Junior High School has recently inaugurated a series of dress-up days in an attempt to improve the appearance of the school through its members.

The idea was initiated by Student Council members and was approved at the November meeting of that body. It was the feeling of the Council members that the Student Council must set the example and encourage the acceptance of the idea. No students were required to "dress-up", but all were invited to participate in the twice-a-week program. The hope was expressed by the Council that enthusiasm in the idea would cause it to spread throughout the student body, and on a more frequent basis.

A statement released by the officers of the Andover Junior High School Student Council follows:

"We believe it is the duty of the Student Council to strive continually to improve the school atmosphere in such areas that it truly becomes an institution of learning good habits as a part of the training of students. We believe it is the duty of the Student Council to strive continually to promote and exhibit good habits of dress and grooming among the student body. We believe it is the responsibility of the Student Council to implement a code of dress and good grooming for students while in school and at school-sponsored activities. We further believe it is the responsibility of the Student Council to secure the acceptance of a student body of the code of dress and good grooming and the backing of the school administration and faculty." The statement was signed by Robert Robichaud, president; Brook Newcomb, vice president; Mary Snyder, secretary and Peggy Whitefield, treasurer.

Junior High Using New Mathematics Plan

Andover Junior High School has introduced into its curriculum at the seventh and eighth grade level a new approach to mathematics commonly referred to as the "Yale Plan".

The School Mathematics Study Group has as its objective the improvement of the teaching of mathematics in schools, in the selection of material and the kind of mathematics that should be taught at the secondary level.

The program has been in a continuous plan of evaluation, criticism and revision. At first, 14 units were tested in 12 centers by 100 teachers, then a greater area was reached as well as an aroused interest in the program.

While the work covers the traditional program with a different approach, its key idea is to understand the principles of mathematical structure versus emphasis on manipulatory ability. The number system is viewed as a progressing development. More time is devoted to geometry through a deductive approach. Experience and appreciation of abstract concepts, the development of a precise vocabulary and precision in thought and expression is vital.

Mathematics is presented as a creative effort. By discovery, a pupil's interest is awakened and his enthusiasm for mathematics and its orderly patterns have great appeal.

More students must be trained in mathematics for our future needs. Through this program the more capable pupil may be stimulated and challenged.

The S.M.S.G. committee endeavored to choose topics that give students practice in essential mathematical ideas, and those that are exploratory culminating in a satisfactory proof.

By this deductive method genuine experiences stimulate thought and give a greater appreciation and satisfaction in this meaningful human activity, namely solving problems.

The "Plan" reflects a new emphasis and a new spirit. The units are developed with activities, skills and a realization of precision of thought and proof.

During the 1961-'62 academic year at the Andover Junior High, the S.M.S.G. was introduced in one seventh and one eighth grade division. By this time, several revisions have occurred and the program seems well established. Some of its ideas are incorporated in the work of other classes and in time as new text books are written more of these ideas will be adapted at different levels. The main approach is recommended for the upper half of a grade and more successful with the college capable student.

Little Stories about Great Hymns

Angels from the Realm of Glory

Wing your flight o'er all the earth;
Ye who sang creation's story,
Now proclaim Messiah's birth:
Come and worship, come and worship,
Worship Christ, the new-born King.

James Montgomery, born in Scotland, in 1777, began writing hymns as a boy. He wanted to be a Moravian missionary, like his parents, but failed to meet their standards of progress. After various adventures, he became editor of the Sheffield Register for 31 years. He found time, however, to write 400 hymns.

Army Sgt. Louis F. Pigeon Jr., 26, whose parents live at 38 Main st., recently participated with other personnel from the 6th Infantry's 2nd and 3rd Battle Groups in Exercise Ever Ready II, a three-day field training exercise in West Berlin's Grunewald forest.

The exercise, conducted to maintain individual and unit combat efficiency, stressed small unit tactics, during both day and night maneuvers. Amphibious and air operations were included in the exercise, which was conducted under simulated combat conditions.

The 6th Infantry's current mission is to protect the 81-square-mile U. S. sector of Berlin from possible enemy aggression and to assist, where necessary, in maintaining law and order in West Berlin.

Sergeant Pigeon, a squad leader in the 2nd's Company C, entered the Army in 1954 and arrived overseas on this tour of duty in October of 1959.

He is a 1954 graduate of Pynchard High School. His wife, Marilyn, is with him in Germany.

Duff Received

Certificate Of Honor

Town Manager Thomas E. Duff was presented a certificate of honor at the recent International City Managers' Association meeting in Florida.

The certificate cites Mr. Duff for his 10 years service in the profession and his "contribution to the proficiency of his fellow managers and his achievements in advancing municipal administration".

Mr. Duff was at the session when it was announced that the city manager of Newburgh, N. Y., was censured for political activity.

He explained that the decision, taken by the executive committee, was based on the manager's open support of specific candidates, and a challenge he issued to the mayor to resign if his candidates were not elected. Mr. Duff said this type of open political activity runs contrary to the Association's code of ethics.

In particular, he noted, the censor motion did not refer to the manager's stand on welfare activities in his community, which have been well-publicized. Joseph McD. Mitchell is the Newburgh manager.

WOMAN'S UNION WILL MEET

The Woman's Union of the West Parish Church will meet Dec. 13 in the auditorium of the Church.

A dinner will be served at 1 p.m. and a program, with Christmas tree and gifts, will be enjoyed. Each member is asked to bring a gift to exchange.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Apathy Is Apparent

We have been forcefully reminded, while researching attendance figures at town meeting for the past 12 years, of the dreadful lack of enthusiasm displayed by a majority of the voters.

We recognize that all of the voters can't come to town meeting; some work at the time, others have situations that confine them to their homes.

But when one realizes that the highest attendance in the past 12 years was 16 percent of those eligible, the appalling fact of voter indifference is overwhelmingly clear.

It's hard to imagine why a voter — specially the voter who also pays fairly substantial taxes — won't interest himself in the management of his town. But the sad facts of life are evident; a majority of the voters just don't care enough about where their tax dollars go, what they are spent for, and whether dollar value is received for dollars spent.

There's no easy solution; we must confess that all the drum-beating in the world doesn't budge the apathetic voter out of his easy chair.

The only time, in fact, that a majority of the voters can be counted is at the election on the Monday before town meeting. Then, at least, more than 50 percent of the voters turn out to elect Selectmen, School Committee members and others.

Perhaps the only way, then, to get a truly accurate decision by the voters is to put key questions on the ballot from time to time. Such debatable issues as urban renewal, for example, might well be considered thus, for they deserve consideration by a majority of the voters. This may seem like a lot of trouble, at extra expense, yet it seems obvious that the only way to get majority action on a question is through the ballot.

Fish Or Cut Bait

The Selectmen still have not resolved the basic Rogers Brook question — Shall we undertake the project in some way?

Meeting with the Finance Committee Monday night, the Selectmen reviewed the many steps taken to get the project underway, and considered various methods of completing it in the future.

But there was no decision on the basic question — should it be done?

The Finance Committee wisely refrained from offering an opinion on the merits of doing the job, noting that this is a decision to be made by the Selectmen. If it is an affirmative decision, then the FinCom will come into the picture as far as financing is concerned.

The entire project appears to be approaching a million dollars — considerably more than the original cost of about $400,000. There is no guarantee that the state will share the cost of more than the first step in the construction, even if the town is willing to become a partner with the state Division of Waterways.

We believe the Selectmen, who want something to present to the voters in March, should phrase an article that would give the voters a clear-cut issue to decide. It might be a simple question "Shall the town further pursue Rogers Brook reconstruction, based on plans drawn by the Division of Waterways' consulting engineers?" An additional article could be inserted in the warrant, taking up specific appropriations, if the first article is acted upon favorably. If it is not, then we're rid of the whole mess for a while.

Is It Sensible?

The residents of Arundel st. have asked for a no-parking edict on their street during the daytime — have even agreed to put their own cars somewhere else during the day to comply with the law.

This request sounds easy at first — grant it, as long as the residents know they must also abide by the no-parking edict.

It's easy to sympathize with their problems — cars parked in such a way as to make it most difficult getting into driveways; inability to park in front of their own houses; all manner of annoyances.

Only one problem remains, actually a question that town officials must answer to their own satisfaction:

What happens if residents of several more streets make the same request, with the same awareness of their own responsibility to comply?

Soon we could have many streets under a no-parking ban.

Perhaps many residents would welcome this, but is it actually a good thing for the area? What happens to the cars that are currently being parked on Arundel st. and elsewhere through the Village? The town has some responsibility to the commercial, business and industrial establishments that pay taxes; this responsibility involves working cooperatively towards a solution of the parking problem.

Is an outright ban on parking, on several streets, the cooperative, progressive solution?

Films Available

For the dates indicated, the following films will be available to groups who wish to use the free film service, and where necessary, to borrow the library's projector: Dec. 4-16, The String Choir, 10 minutes — describes the appearance, function and timbre of each stringed instrument of the symphony orchestra; Dec. 4-16, Parents Are People, Too, 15 minutes — an instructor leads a teenage discussion group in good understanding with parents; Dec. 18-30, Bridges, 10 minutes — four types of bridges are shown, and their function as means of communication and transportation is explained; Dec. 18-30, Does It Matter What You Think, 15 minutes — discusses the factors which help to form public opinion, and stresses the responsibility of each person to sift varied sources of information to make the best decisions; there will be three color Canadian travel films also on hand throughout December.

Groups are urged to reserve films as early as possible.

Littlest Listeners

Ballardvale Littlest Listeners will meet as usual Thursday morning, Dec. 7, at 10 o'clock.

Christmas Party

The Cardinal group of Littlest Listeners will have the first Christmas party at the library, Wednesday morning, Dec. 13, at 10 o'clock. The following Wednesday the Robins group will have their party program, and the Ballardvale little people will enjoy their party on Thursday, Dec. 21 at the same hour.

Mothers are reminded that they are invited to stay with the children at party time to enjoy the fun.

Human Rights Week

The week of Dec. 10 through 17 has been set aside for the observance of Human Rights Week, and the library is urging all readers to make time to give thought to the importance of its theme.

Back in 1948, the Universal Declaration of Human Rights was adopted by the United Nations General Assembly. The document sets forth basic social, economic and civil rights and freedoms of every human being. Fashioned after the Bill of Rights contained in the constitutions of such democratic countries as United States and Great Britain, and containing some of the principles of the famous "Four Freedoms", the Declaration states the following: all are born free and equal in dignity and rights, slavery is forbidden, there is equal protection of law, privacy of home; innocence is assumed until guilt is proven; there shall be freedom of thought, conscience, speech and religion, all have the right to education and to own property, to marry persons of their choice, to have gainful employment, good working conditions, the right to join trade unions, the right to leave any country, including one's own, and return, and to take part in the government of one's own country. Finally, none of the rights and freedoms so defined are to be denied a person because of race, color, sex, birth or other status.

Books on the rights of humans, as expressed through man's efforts through the ages, will be on view at the library during the week.

Story Hours

Dec. 7 the story hour to be held at the library at 3:35 o'clock is "The Feast of St. Nicholas." The stories will be "How The Good Gifts Were Used by Two", "Huck-a-Buck Family" and "Slip Foot."

The following week, Dec. 14, at the same hour, the program is called "Holiday Frolic". Among the stories to be told are "The Tailor Of Gloucester", "Christmas Masquerade" and "The Nutcracker."

All boys and girls are invited to the story hours, which run from 3:35 to about 4:20 o'clock.

Attention is called to the fact that December story hours are being held on Thursdays.

Christmas Program Helps

Now that we are all Christmas conscious, and are building our church, school and club programs around the theme of Christmas, the library offers the following suggestions to those responsible for planning. For the story and tradition behind the celebration, there is Herbert Wernecke's "Christmas Customs Around The World", "All About Christmas" by Maymie Krythe, "The Christmas Book" by Frances Weiser, "Let's Celebrate Christmas" by Horace Gardner and "The Story Of Christmas" by Smith.

There are books on carols and Christmas music by the Trapp family, Emurian, Simon and Heller, and books of Christmas poetry by Warren and Wilkinson.

For those who would plan a Christmas play there are several books that can be of real help, providing plays arranged for small or large casts.

For instructions in making gifts and in decoration for the home there are Frank Watts' "The Complete Christmas Book", "Today's Woman's Ideas For Christmas", "Christmas Make-It Book" by Barbara Baer, "Decorating With Pods and Cones" by Van Rensselaer, "Party Decorations For Christmas" by Patricia Roberts and "Alcoa's Book of Decoration". A helpful book for those who wish to decorate with lighting is Sarah "Christmas Lighting and Decorating, Outside and Inside."

A number of albums of Christmas Carols are available in the audio-visual collection, which also includes Dickens' "Christmas Carol", with Basil Rathbone taking the part of Scrooge, and the lovely "Christmas Oratorio" of Bach. Christmas materials are limited to a loan of one week because of the heavy demand made at this season.

Query On Use

During the month of December the library is asking for the cooperation of those who borrow recordings in the adult department in a study of use of this media.

We wish to know how the library's use of recordings compares with that of other libraries. Those who are willing are going to be asked to check a few items on a brief questionnaire, without signature. The questions relate to the reason for their selection, their satisfaction with type of recordings, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Bergstrom and son of Worcester spent the Thanksgiving holiday with Mr. J. W. Barnard.

Mrs. Isabella Charles Davis, who spoke at the South Church Sunday evening, has been the guest of Mrs. T. F. Pratt of Central for several days.

Miles Ward of this town has returned from a trip to Western Canada.

Eugene Lovely, science teacher at Pynchard School, spent Thanksgiving at his home in Gardiner, Me.

Sealed bids for the job of carrying mail between the Post Office and the railroad station were sent to the Postmaster, William Morrissey has resigned from the job.

The pony driven by Miss Elizabeth Bartlett, accompanied by a friend, ran away on the Hill yesterday and had quite an exciting time until caught by a group of Academy boys. The pony cart was badly damaged, but the occupants were unhurt.

25 Years Ago — December, 1936

A human chain was successful in pulling a Ballardvale boy out of the icy water in the Shawshut River above Parker's Wharf last Saturday. The lad skated onto a patch of thin ice, and went into the water. Boys playing hockey nearby formed the human chain that succeeded in saving the boy.

About $2,500 will be returned to the town by the school building committee, from the various appropriations authorized by the town meeting.

Drains on the town's $15,000 reserve fund, because of the flood and the heavy welfare load, have nearly exhausted the fund. The School Committee has asked for a transfer of $3,000, because of unanticipated expenses to do with furnishing and equipping the new schools. But they can get only $1,428 — all that is left in the reserve.

What Our Readers Say—

The Editor of the Townsman, having, in the past, deplored the communications gap between the public and its school officials, it is only right that I should now compliment our School Committee for publishing "Your School" to help close that gap. The idea is good, and Vol. 1, No. 1, leaves room for improvement in both scope and details.

First, I think the scope of the bulletin should be enlarged in two directions.

The stated purpose of the bulletin mentions both problems and solutions. The first issue contains much material on supposed solutions but where is the problem analysis against which the proposed solutions must be assessed? Our school people are not unaware that, rightly or wrongly, some people even suspect that poor reading is caused by inept teaching. A one-sided presentation leaves the public in the dark about the cause of a problem, cannot be expected to create public understanding of the action taken.

An alleged solution without critical analysis of the problem is an enigma dangling in a vacuum. What the public has a right to know is not so much that we are spending more tax dollars to buy more mechanical devices and hire more teachers as the solution to a reading problem, as that the steps taken are carefully designed to correct the cause rather than alleviate the symptoms of the problem.

If this publication is going to feature superficial "progress reports" reviewed through rose-colored lenses, of the microscope in its nameplate, it can easily degenerate into a propagandist sheet.

I think the bulletin's scope should also be enlarged to include consideration of cost. Expansion programs do not always assure educational value but they always guarantee greater cost, and that almost always become permanent fixtures. Every program needs continuous critical evaluation. I need more value analysis or "best buy for the buck", remembering that judicious pruning is a growth stimulator. I suggest some "for value received" stories to assure the taxpayers that school officials can be hard-headed as well as tender-hearted.

Secondly it seems to me that the current issue contains too much English, poor editing and atrocious proofreading. I am confident that these defects can be corrected so no one will wince at our wordy "The cost of 'Your Schools' will be justified if it reveals our school officials not in the role of speculators or promoters, but only astute judges of educational value. And, when you get right down to meat and potatoes, Mr. Editor, isn't that their chief stock in trade?"

Unit Meetings Next Week

Members of the Andover League of Women Voters will study Civil Service at unit meetings next week and will take a consensus on certain objectives proposed for the Massachusetts League of Women Voters as a result of a comprehensive study of public personnel administration in the Commonwealth.

Tuesday, Dec. 12, League unit meetings will be at 9:45 a.m. at Cooley House and at 7:45 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Jerald M. Cornwell, 31 Ballardvale rd.

Thursday, Dec. 14, there will be a luncheon unit meeting at 9:45 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Allan May, 74 Spring Grove rd., and an evening discussion meeting at 7:45 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Frank Michel, 202 Shawsheen rd.

Material for discussion will be drawn from the League's recently published report, "The Merit System in Massachusetts." This report, according to League members, compares the Massachusetts system with systems in other states and calls attention to ways in which the Commonwealth's personnel administration fails to measure up as a merit system.

Since 1959, more than 12,000 Massachusetts League members have been involved in this study. Working in committees, they read through all available material on public personnel administration with special emphasis on Massachusetts law and regulations. Important sources were the Massachusetts "Baby Hoover Commission" report of 1953, the Self-Survey study conducted in 1960, and numerous reports by personnel experts who have studied the Massachusetts system during the last 35 years.

A REPORT ON THE RELUCTANT PAYEES

Business at the CO-OP is good. That is why we recently decided to pay off a third $10,000. to the noteholders who invested over a tenth of a million dollars in our building fund last year.

Three weeks ago we invited those CO-OP noteholders who wanted their money back to notify us.

To date, out of a total of 230 noteholders, only seven have indicated that they would like their money back at this time. The amount involved is only $2000. As a result, we will have to draw names from a hat to find payees for the remaining $8000. which we want to pay off at this time.

What makes CO-OP payees so reluctant to receive the money they loaned to Andover's only cooperative enterprise?

We like to think that their reluctance expresses a strong vote of confidence in the soundness of the cooperative way of doing business — confidence in the big, friendly, growing supermarket in the center of town.

Have you looked into the CO-OP lately? More and more canny shoppers are discovering the CO-OP.

PLEDGED TO SORORITY - Beta Sigma Phi Sorority initiated two new members at recent ceremonies. Seated here are Mrs. John Lewis, vice president; Mrs. Frederick Kidd, pledge; Mrs. George Farrell, pledge and Mrs. Richard Homewood, president.

Received 2
Into Sorority

At a beautiful candlelight service, Mrs. George Farrell and Mrs. Frederick Kidd recently were pledged into membership of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority.

In a setting of lovely white full-blown chrysanthemums and pretty yellow roses, each pledge was presented with a yellow corsage embellished with streamers and a pledge pin attached. Mrs. Richard Homewood, president, officiated and was assisted by Mrs. Ralph Wirtz and Mrs. Richard Pangonis. Besides Beta Sigma Phi members, also present at the affair was Mrs. George Best, Sorority sponsor. Arrangements were made by Mrs. John Lewis, vice president in charge of membership.

The Pledge ritual is based on a legend about Diotima, Greek Woman of Wisdom, who spent her life in search of life, learning and friendship, the basis of Beta Sigma Phi. Members of Beta Sigma Phi find in their sorority activities the right climate for an appreciation of the best that life has to offer, through the friendships they develop, through their social activities, and through their examination and discussion of the finest thinking and expressions of the mind and hand of man. Beta Sigma Phis also have the opportunity for broad acquaintance with the community, through participation in civic and service projects.

Friendly Guild To Hold Yule Party

Members of the Friendly Guild Christ Church will hold their traditional gala Christmas party on 11 at 7:45 p.m. in the Parish House.

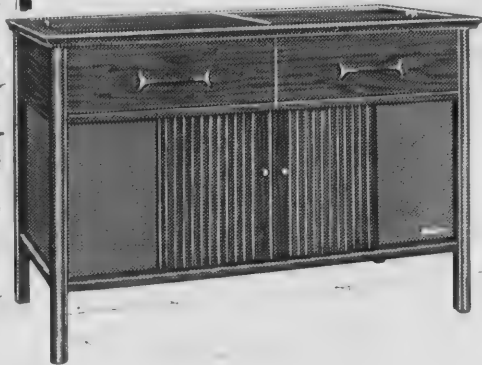

As is customary, each member is to donate a dollar to the Christ Home Society, and bring a 50-cent gift to be exchanged with one of the members.

Planning the evening are Mrs. Malcolm Battles, chairman; Mrs. David Lockwood, Mrs. Ruth Perron, Mrs. James White, Mrs. John Mooney and Mrs. Raymond Lally.

School Status
Is Questioned

Will the new elementary school on Lovejoy rd. be open in September?
Supt. of Schools Edward I. Erickson doesn't think so - and he doesn't think what to do about it. He posed the question to the School Committee, noting that at least six teachers will be needed for the building, plus a principal and a custodial staff.
It would be a routine matter for teachers for September, but for December or January, as Mr. Erickson told the Committee, he thinks it might be better to try to open the building in the following year - September 1962 - if it is a choice between that and moving during the school year.

On the other hand, he explained, there won't be enough room for all of the students next year because there are now no vacant classrooms. But he indicated that rescheduling and larger classrooms might handle the anticipated increase. The School Building Committee met two weeks ago, apparently satisfied with the treasurer's progress and still hoping to have the school ready for occupancy in September. Erickson had said that 12 months is needed to build a school and thus he feels that the 12 months allowed for this one will not be enough. On the other hand, the Building Committee has explained that site preparation work was out in advance of the general contract so that the structure could go up more quickly.

Supt. of Schools Edward I. Erickson doesn't think so - and he doesn't know what to do about hiring teachers for the new structure. He posed the question to the School Committee, noting that at least six teachers will be needed for the building, plus a principal and a custodial staff.

It would be a routine matter to hire teachers for September, but not for December or January. Thus Mr. Erickson told the Committee he thinks it might be best not to try to open the building until the following year - September of 1962 - if it is a choice between that and moving during the school year.

The School Building Committee, which it met two weeks ago, was apparently satisfied with the contractor's progress and still expects to have the school ready for occupancy in September. Mr. Erickson had said that 13-15 months is needed to build a school, and thus he feels that the 12 months allowed for this one will not be enough. On the other hand, the Building Committee has explained that site preparation work was let out in advance of the general contract so that the structure could go up more quickly.

A public hearing will be held in North Andover on the plan drafted by the state commissioner of correction. He would establish the camp for state prison inmates, who would do work in the state forest.

Chairman of the Board of Selectmen, Roy A. Hardy, has publicly declared his belief that the welfare rolls should be open for inspection, at least by a committee of local citizens. Noting that everyone should not have the chance to inspect the rolls, he suggests that a local committee's assistance might be instrumental in cutting down the number of cases. Some states allow this type of public scrutiny.

LOWELL STREET DETOUR - Installation of a big drainage pipe, near Greenwood rd., has resulted in Lowell st. being shut off for through traffic. The five-foot pipe is being installed on top of the other service pipes already in the street, and causes them to be lowered. At left foreground can be seen one water pipe that has been cut, lowered in the center and properly braced; at right is the other water pipe, at the bottom of the pit, which has been cut now and is being firmly set in place to allow for the drain pipe above. Sufficient material has to be packed above the water pipes to keep the big drainage pipe from settling heavily onto the town's water pipes. (Staff Photo)

The biggest reason for switching to Saturday meetings in 1961 was the possibility that bad weather and the necessity of getting up for work the next morning would keep many voters away from Monday night sessions. Many of the voters who had been late, and the haste of voters to adjourn as the hour grew late was evident.

However, the first year the Saturday session was attempted, the warrant was incomplete. At 6 o'clock and the meeting adjourned for a brief period, only to pick up again in the evening. The session didn't work at all - most voters didn't come home to eat and stayed at home. In following years, the practice has been to adjourn to another time, if the warrant is not complete by meal time. This was well enough, but the adjournments are poorly attended.

In examining the attendance records of the past 12 years, annual meetings only, it looks as though issues have to be the most compelling factor in drawing the voters. But even these seem to affect the percentage very much.

MINORITY ATTENDS TOWN MEETINGS

...based on records kept by the town clerk over the years. The biggest reason for switching to Saturday meetings in 1956 was the possibility that baby-sitting problems and the necessity of getting up for work the next day might keep many voters away from Monday night sessions. Many of these were late, and the haste of the voters to adjourn as the hour grew late was evident.

However, the first year that a Saturday session was attempted, the warrant was incomplete by 6 o'clock and the meeting adjourned for a brief period, only to pick up again early in the evening. This didn't work at all - most voters went home to eat and stayed there. In following years, the practice has been to adjourn to another time, if the warrant is not complete by meal time. This works well enough, but the adjourned sessions are poorly attended as a rule.

In examining the attendance records of the past 12 years, for annual meetings only, it looks as though issues have to be the single compelling factor in drawing out the voters. But even these don't seem to affect the percentages very much.

Look at the attendance figures: For the years 1950 through 1955, the attendance was 11, 7, 11, 12, 14 and 14 percent.

In the years 1956 through 1961, the attendance was 13.8, 8.5, 16, 10, 9.8 and 6 percent.

The year of the highest percentage - 1958 - the most vigorously debated articles were the Library addition and the many zoning proposals presented by the Planning Board. But in 1956, when there was a sharp controversy about the preliminary plans for the South School, attendance was normal, based on the preceding years.

Some men and women, talking about the apparently declining attendance and especially the poor showing last March, claim that the attendance probably will be even less in future years, as long as the voters believe their town is being run properly.

Others dispute this theory, pointing out that, in their belief, the lack of attendance demonstrates the complete indifference of the voters and, in some cases, their idea that attending the meetings doesn't mean anything because "you can't fight town hall."

Planetarium Offers Program

High on the holiday calendar of scores of New Englanders is the annual Christmas star show in the Charles Hayden Planetarium at Boston's Museum of Science.

This beautiful and impressive program - which opened this year Tuesday, Dec. 5, has become a tradition with many families.

Young and old alike thrill to the sudden appearance of the Christmas star amid joyous holiday music and pealing church bells in the memorable climax, and they take away with them a true feeling for the wondrous order and mystery of the universe.

Through the centuries, scientists have searched for an astronomical explanation for the Star which, the Bible says, led the Three Kings and the shepherds to the Tiny Baby in Bethlehem. A super nova, comet, meteor, or planet particularly bright at that time of year have all been suggested, but as yet no explanation has been accepted.

However, all of these celestial phenomena will be shown and discussed in the 45-minute show, which continues through January 7.

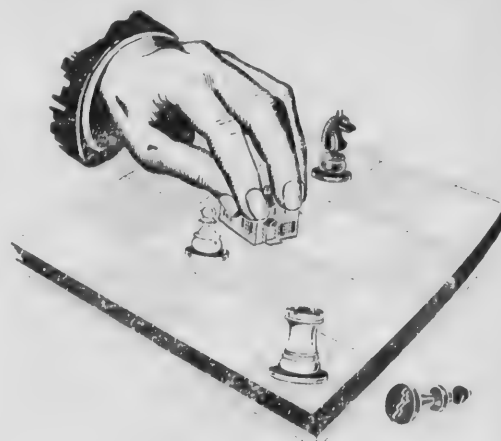

Viewers will also be taken on a star-studded journey to Santa Claus land at the North Pole.

The Christmas show may be seen Tuesday through Friday at 11 a.m. and 3 p.m., Saturday at 11 a.m., 1:45 and 3 p.m., and Sundays at 1:45, 3 and 4:15 p.m., also, Friday nights at 8 p.m. The Museum and Planetarium are closed Mondays, and Christmas and New Year's Day.

Children under five are not admitted to the Planetarium, although they may visit the Museum.

Because it withstands the acids and alkalis present in mortar and lime, nickel stainless steel is used for architectural purposes in direct contact with stone, brick or ceramics.

Progressive Dinner By Club Members

The Spade and Trowel Garden Club will celebrate the Christmas season this year with a progressive dinner, held in the homes of several members next Tuesday evening.

Each home will have its doorway decorated for the holidays in a manner in keeping with the house itself.

The Club will gather first, at 7 p.m., at the Garrison-Colonial home of Mrs. Arthur L. Read, 11 Rolling Ridge rd., where Christmas Punch will be served.

From there, the members will go to the home of Mrs. Robert Macartney, 140 Argilla rd., for the main course. The house is a Cape Cod in the tradition of Royal Barry Wills.

Next to be visited will be the ranch-style home of Mrs. Warren Oldaker, 112 Wild Rose dr., where dessert will be enjoyed.

Climaxing the evening will be coffee, and a business meeting, at the home of Mrs. James Kitchens, 23 Johnson rd.

Each hostess will be assisted in decorating by other members of the Club, thus the creative talents of many members will be on display. Plans for the affair have been under the direction of Mrs. Frederick Cofer.

Committee Adopts Ratio Principle

The School Committee Tuesday night adopted the principle of ratio payments for administrators in the system.

Although they didn't set any figures, the Committee agreed with the school administrators that they should be paid on a ratio basis, using the maximum teacher's salary as a basic figure.

Thus a principal holding a Bachelor's degree will be paid a percentage over the maximum for teachers with the same degree; those with a Master's degree will be paid on a ratio of the maximum for that track in the salary schedule, and so on through the scale for those with the Ph.D.

The Committee did not decide whether directors will be included in the ratio plan. The current coordinator and the principal will be included, however.

Salaries of department assistant principals and entry level for additional duties will be discussed at the next meeting of the Committee. A committee presenting the school master plan also is present to discuss the financial situation.

Master Point Session Tonight

The Andover Duplicate Bridge Club will hold its master point session tonight at the High School.

Play will begin promptly at 7:30 and all interested bridge players are invited.

Sixteen tables were in play last week, and fractional master points were awarded to the following winners:

North-south - Thomas L. Francis, Lucas; Mrs. J. J. Sullivan-Mrs. Philip C. C. Mrs. Frank Hayes-Mrs. Ann Kerwin; Mrs. James H. Shipp-Tom Sharkey.

East-west - Earl Bryant-Mrs. Thomas Dye; Mrs. David K. Vincent-Charles Garabedian; and Mrs. Robert Mowen, J. Flournoy-B. O. Chase.

Due to the increasing popularity of stainless steel housewares, department stores now feature special displays of these products. Tableware, utensils, appliances and other housewares made of stainless steel are winning the housewife's favor because of their long life, lasting beauty and ease of cleaning.

that the racks can be filled and then re-filled without getting the mail out of order, will allow this to be done, Mr. Mooney said.

Acknowledging that there was some confusion last year over postage rates, specially to Canada, Mr. Mooney explained that unsealed cards may be sent to Canada for three cents, and that four-cent postage is required for sealed envelopes. These are the rates for domestic mail as well.

Because the mailing season is getting busy so early, the assistant postmaster suggested the following helpful hints for those sending parcel post packages: Avoid carelessness in packing; use strong cartons, heavy paper and tie with sturdy cord; mark breakable material "fragile, handle with care"; put an extra label inside the package, bearing the sender's and recipient's name and address.

Detour May Be Over Soon

The long detour on Lowell st. will be ended by the weekend, according to town engineer Thomas Flynn.

He said, at mid-week, that the drainage project which has closed off the street should be finished by the end of this week. The highway being installed under the street helps drain the old Willow Farm, now under development by John Philip Enterprises. The firm is having the off-street drainage installed, at the recommendation and insistence of the town. Plans for the activity have been under discussion for many months, but the work could not be started until last Monday. Although the area under construction is relatively small, the work has included lowering the municipal water lines and other services under the street.

The detour started at the West Parish Church and went via Highland Church rd. to Greenwood rd. on Lowell st. beyond the construction. Traffic headed towards Andover used a different approach entering Lovejoy rd. and then through the sub-division and back onto Lowell st.

Police directed traffic at both ends of the detour, and reported little in the way of difficulty. Traffic was, of course, unusual, heavy through residential areas as most of the Raytheon traffic uses the detours throughout the week.

Christmas Seal Campaign Continues

Christmas Seal campaign returns for the first three weeks are at $34,436.38, according to Charles Lowrie, treasurer of the Essex County Health Association.

He expressed his thanks to those men and women in the Association's 31 cities and towns who have already sent their contribution in support of the Association's tuberculosis control programs.

The total received as of Friday night, (December 1), compares with receipts of $34,682.27 at the same time a year ago. The Seal campaign is the only source of income for the Association, and will be continued throughout December.

"We need increased support," Mr. Lowrie explained, "so that we can continue to meet the TB problem squarely and effectively." He urged residents who have not yet sent back their contribution to do so now, before the Christmas mail and shopping rush gets underway.

According to the Association's report, the following contributions have been received, and are compared with a year ago: Andover, $2,120 this year to date, compared to $1,984.79 last year.

No Decision
On Brook Job

The issue has been further defined, but no decisions reached, on the Rogers Brook problem.

The Selectmen spent an hour Monday night explaining the whole complicated Brook problem to the Finance Committee, and noting the various reasons why the project is at a standstill.

FinCom Chairman Walter C. Wilson Jr. told the Selectmen that they must answer the question "Shall the Brook be reconstructed?"

After that answer is reached, he indicated, the Finance Committee can deliberate on the various plans, cost estimates and other factors.

He suggested to the Selectmen that the FinCom shouldn't decide whether the job must be done or not, but is willing to discuss ways of financing it once a decision is reached.

Members of that financial committee agreed with the Selectmen that doing business with the state Division of Waterways at this time is a problem of its own, because of the investigations and court actions taking place.

During the long explanation, it was stated that the over-all cost of the Brook job now approaches a million dollars, but that three steps could be taken. The first would reconstruct the Brook from the River to Main st., at about $249,250 — half paid by the town and half by the state. The state would, however, award the contracts, supervise the work and handle any extras that come about during the job.

The second step, still under state control if half of the funds are put up by the Commonwealth, takes the Brook from Main to Whittier, at a cost of $262,500. The third step is from Whittier to Summer st. area, at $227,500.

These estimated costs come to approximately $739,250, but there was general agreement that the costs might well go up from there, and that extras may creep into the work too.

The inadequacy of cleaning out the Brook bed was explained, as this will not solve the flood conditions. Some value would be received from cleaning out and replacing culverts — but this move would also be only partially valid, leaving the eventual project to be undertaken anyway.

There was a suggestion that the one step be taken — from the River to Main st., and that this be tied in with the existing culvert under Main st. Thus, the argument went, one section could be finished and put into use, regardless of when the other sections are done.

There was some thought given to undertaking the project in many stages, such as is done with the water and sewer plans, to ease the financial burden on the town. On the other hand, it was thought possible that interest on bond issues now might be less than the increased cost of doing the job piece-meal over the years.

The Selectmen felt that they must present material to town meeting before taking action, but didn't decide what to recommend to the voters. It was generally agreed, however, that the voters will have an opportunity to take action on the Brook job in March. State funds, which would be used to match the town money, remain available until the end of June — the state's fiscal year.

to more than the person can afford, residents have complained.

The plight of the residents in the path of this highway became worse during the past 10 days, as it became known that the statute of limitations will force many to take legal action in a hurry. Any person whose land has been taken for the state highway has 12 months to enter action in the courts.

Many homes were taken last December, and these residents must initiate legal action before the anniversary date of the taking, providing they have not yet reached agreement with the state on a price for the property.

If this action is not taken, according to legal spokesmen, the state may pay whatever it thinks it should for the real estate, but the resident loses his right to go to court.

One local bank has been hurriedly compiling a list of all persons to whom it has granted bridge loans — and has the intention of filing suit in each case in order to protect its own and the customers' rights. The bridge loans are made so that a person can make a down payment on a new home before he receives funds from the state for the old one. The banks are, of course, interested in protecting the equity in the original property, as are the former owners.

Since the Townsman published the first account of the problems encountered by persons in the path of the road, other residents have come forward with their own accounts of what happens — or doesn't happen.

In general, the complaints have been that the state has left one or more property owners without any information, while talking to neighbors and making offers to them. It isn't unusual to find one man who has never heard from the state about a price, while his immediate neighbors have heard.

Problems of negotiating new mortgages while continuing to pay at least the interest on the old one are common. Some, whose land was taken in February, find themselves liable for 1961 taxes. In other cases, where rental income has been a factor in a person's ability to buy a house, the state has not permitted the collection of rents. The owners, deprived of the income, have still been required to pay the interest, at least, and may also have been required to pay taxes this year.

Many residents have expressed their thoughts that the Townsman news stories on the subject have finally called attention to a situation that has plagued them for many months.

The main thing mother has to save for a rainy day is patience.
